UK Wedding WEBSITES

A FREE GUIDE FROM UK WEDDING WEBSITES

Digital Wedding Invitations

e-invites, done well

When to send them, what to write and how to make sure every guest, of every age, can open them.

INSIDE THIS GUIDE

Digital, printed or both

What to write

Keep a few on paper

When to send

How to send them

Digital, printed or both

A digital invitation reaches guests instantly, costs nothing to post and can carry everything: the schedule, the map and the RSVP in one link. Printed invitations are still lovely to receive, and some relatives will expect one. Many couples now do both: a printed card for close family and older guests, and an e-invite for everyone else. Both point to the same website, so the details never disagree.

Wedding e-invite with RSVP →
A designed digital invitation that guests open and reply to from one link.
ukweddingwebsites.com/prices/e-invite/

When to send

- Save the dates: around six to twelve months before, longer for a wedding abroad
- Invitations: around two to three months before
- For a wedding abroad, or one with a lot of travel, send everything earlier
- Reminders: about a week before your reply-by date

What to write

Say who is hosting, who is getting married, when and where, and how to reply. Keep the rest for the website. Formal wording suits a traditional day; relaxed wording suits a smaller one. Whichever you choose, use the same style throughout.

> "Together with their families, Amira and Daniel invite you to celebrate their marriage on Saturday 6 September at The Grange, Cheshire. Please reply by 1 August at our wedding website."

> "We are getting married! Join us for the day on 6 September. Everything you need, and the RSVP, is on our website."

Digital wedding invitations in the UK →
A full guide to e-invites: timing, wording and what to include.
ukweddingwebsites.com/library/invitations/digital-wedding-invitations-uk-guide/

How to send them

WhatsApp is the quickest for most families, email suits work friends, and a text works for everyone else. Send each invitation personally rather than to a group, so guests feel invited rather than broadcast to, and so replies come back to you one by one. Check the link on your own phone first.

Make and send digital invitations →

Step by step, from design to the moment you press send.

ukweddingwebsites.com/library/invitations/make-send-digital-wedding-invitations/

Keep a few on paper

Order a small number of printed cards for grandparents and anyone who does not use a smartphone, and for keepsakes. Matching the printed card to the digital design makes the two feel like one set.

Printed wedding invitations →

Cards that match your website design, printed in the UK.

ukweddingwebsites.com/print/wedding-invitations/

Save the date cards →

Printed save the dates with your website address and QR code.

ukweddingwebsites.com/print/save-the-date-cards/

Before you press send

1. Website and RSVP are live
2. Link tested on your own phone
3. Every name spelt correctly
4. Date, time and venue checked twice
5. Reply-by date included
6. Sent to each guest personally
7. Printed cards ordered for those who need them
8. A list of who has been sent what
9. Reminder date in your calendar
10. Save the dates already out

Keep planning

Invitation questions answered → Wedding designs → Wedding print →

Everything for your wedding,
in one place

Designs
Hundreds of wedding website themes

Packages
E-invite, website, Signature and Bespoke

Weddings by culture
English, Muslim, Sikh, Hindu and more

Free website
A free one-page wedding website

Wedding print
Invitations, save the dates, menus

Planning tools
Checklists, countdowns and calculators

Wedding library
Guides for every part of the day

Questions and answers
Straight answers to wedding questions

POPULAR WITH COUPLES RIGHT NOW

Wedding website with RSVP · Wedding e-invites · Free wedding website · Asian wedding designs · Wedding QR code generator · Wedding website examples · Nikah and walima websites · Printed invitations

Start my wedding website

UK Wedding WEBSITES

ukweddingwebsites.com · hello@ukweddingwebsites.com · WhatsApp 07737 902425

UK Wedding Websites is a trading name of FAT PRINT LTD, company number 17494787. Unit 3-F, 116 Bury New Road, Manchester M8 8EB.
You are welcome to share this guide unchanged. © 2026 UK Wedding Websites.